Types of Wood

Wood Species are Classified into Two Types

Solid Wood

Types of authentic natural trees such as oak, walnut, maple or cherry can be prepared as panels for the kitchen cabinets. Each has its own aesthetic of original veins and meticulous look characterized by durability and sustainability.

Engineered Wood

Several types of natural trees are combined and pressed to form wood panels characterized by durability and sustainability. MDF and Chipboard Wood are two examples which come in a variety of modern colors and textures; a layer of laminate pressed to it or painted can give it a particular aesthetic finish.

To Simplify Things,

when you are deciding what you want to do in your project you must determine three things:

- Material type of wood
- Finish whether the wood is:
 - Painted.
 - Laminated wood from a variety of textures such as matt, glossy or grain.
- Color based on the material and finish you can narrow down what the effect of your woodwork will look like.
